The slim, streamlined body design enables sharp side-to-side actions while darting across the water's surface. The action is primarily focused on short slides, but with precise timing, it can also dive or perform a subsurface dart. Depending on the combination of techniques, a wide variety of action styles, from regular to irregular, can be achieved. To bring out the most basic action, try making small, subtle rod tip movements while synchronizing your reel work. This will create a "regular short slide to the left and right." A topwater plug that drives bass, sea bass, and bluefish wild, it transcends traditional categories. Its full potential still remains unknown, even to its developers.
